Dear Prospective Participant,

On behalf of the organizing committee, we are delighted to invite you to the 35th Asia Business Conference (ABC) at the University of Michigan's Stephen M. Ross School of Business. This year's conference brings together leaders from across industries to explore the theme “Reshaping Trade, Policy, and Innovation in New Asian Markets”.

For more than three decades, the Asia Business Conference has brought together investors, executives, policymakers, and founders to discuss the forces shaping Asia's role in the global economy. As the region continues to sit at the center of major transformations in capital markets, technology, trade, and policy, the 35th conference will explore its implications through structured keynote speeches, industry and geographic panels, and networking sessions.

We are deeply grateful to our speakers, sponsors, and organizing team whose support has made this conference possible. We hope the conversations throughout the conference leave you with new insights, connections, and ideas for the future.

Warm regards,
Tiger Wu & Jaryl Shao
Co-Chairs, 35th Asia Business Conference

Asia Business Conference

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN | STEPHEN M. ROSS SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

HOW WILL THE CONFERENCE BE STRUCTURED?

Each year, the conference hosts 25-30 speakers from Asia and the United States. The first day features a keynote speaker, followed by panel discussions on the following day. Panels include regional discussions on Northeast Asia, South Asia, China, and ASEAN, as well as industry panels regarding Finance, Technology, and Consulting. This year, our discussion will be centered around the topic of “Reshaping Trade, Policy, and Innovation in New Asian Markets”.

WHO WE ARE

The Asia Business Conference (ABC) is the longest student-run conference in North America focused on Asia business. For 34 years, the landmark conference has brought leaders of multinational companies and organizations to the University of Michigan’s Stephen M. Ross School of Business to discuss issues facing the Asian markets. Organized by ABC, this year’s conference (March 20-21, 2026) will provide students and local professionals with a unique glimpse into the environment and business trends in Asia.

WHO ARE THE SPEAKERS?

Past conferences have featured leaders from multinational corporations, governments, and academia. This year we’re excited to welcome a diverse lineup of 21 speakers honing from all across the world, with experiences ranging from consulting, finance, entrepreneurship to NGOs, policy, and global trade. Through extensive networking sessions and panel Q&As, the conference provides an excellent opportunity for attendees to hear directly from industry leaders, explore careers connected to Asia, and connect with others interested in global business.

NORTHEAST ASIA'S PURSUIT OF STRATEGIC AUTONOMY

MODERATED BY: JEN CHOI

KEN G KABIRA

Senior Consultant,
Japan Intercultural Consulting

Ken G Kabira is an experienced general management executive and board member with a 20-plus-year history of accelerating customer metrics, revenue, and profitability for leading organizations, both in the US and Japan.

He is one of the rare leaders who has served as a C-level executive in all three sectors of the economy: private, social, and public. He is a dual citizen of Japan and the US and is fully fluent in Japanese.

KEANU NAHM

Head of Business Development
Retail/Restaurants/CPG (RRCG),
Amazon Web Services (AWS)

Keanu Nahm is a transformation enabler who helps people and organizations cross thresholds they couldn't cross alone.

Fluent in Japanese, Korean, and English, he has spent his career bridging Japan and the U.S. — guiding top Japanese retail, restaurant, and CPG companies through digital transformation and market entry, while personally mentoring startups making their first leap across the Pacific.

At AWS, he brings a distinctly human lens to C-suite transformation: that real change begins and ends with people, organization, and culture — technology simply follows. In the classroom, as a guest lecturer at Global Click and partner universities, he carries that thinking to the next generation of business leaders. Underlying everything is a philosophy he lives by: the deepest learning happens when you teach, and the best teaching happens when you never stop learning. For Keanu, culture is the compass. Transformation is the mission. And the bridge is where he lives.

MI JEONG HIBBITTS

President & Principal,
Robert & William, LLC

A strategic cross-border growth leader with over 20 years of experience, she specializes in accelerating market entry and international business development between the U.S. and Northeast Asia. By leveraging real-world competitive intelligence and customer insights, she crafts powerful Go-To-Market (GTM) strategies that drive sustainable growth in new territories. Her unique expertise lies in navigating complex local norms and building the trust-based relationships essential for newcomers to establish immediate credibility.

Having guided over 100 South Korean companies across high-tech sectors—such as AI, robotics, and semiconductors—she provides high-level advisory to CEOs and executives to ensure successful global scaling. As Executive Director of the Global Chamber Baltimore/Washington, she acts as a premier global connector, linking clients to a network of 600+ metro areas worldwide. Her background includes senior roles with the U.S. Agency for Global Media and service as a Congressional Correspondent for Voice of America, ensuring every strategy is underpinned by world-class communication and cross-cultural insight.
